

Companies' brief

KBW Investments, (KSA):

Founded in 2013 by HRH Prince Khaled bin Alwaleed, is a private firm with a diverse portfolio in technology, finance, real estate, and construction.

KBW currently invests in LED street lighting, mobility, and government archiving in Jordan with plans to expand in digital transformation, energy, healthcare and beyond.

Airport International Group (AIG), (France):

Developing and managing QAIA under a BOT agreement since 2007, extended to 2039. This partnership was identified as one of the most successful PPP projects in the region. It Improved passenger experience, created jobs, and bolstered Jordan's position as a regional aviation hub. AIG is planning the expansion of QAIA.

A.P. Moller, (Denmark):

Operates the Aqaba Container Terminal (ACT).

Meridiam, (France):

Has a 32% share in Airport International Group (AIG), the operator of Queen Alia International Airport, through a $200 million investment.

The consortium led by Meridiam is the preferred bidder for the Water Desalination and Conveyance project.

Amazon, (USA)

Currently employs over 2,000 Jordanians, with plans to surpass 3,000 by 2025. Expanding technical and customer support operations to serve the Middle East and Europe thus strengthening Jordan as a regional hub.

Kuwait's Privatization Holding Company, (Kuwait):

Invested in Jordan's energy, hospitality and manufacturing sectors. Holds 30% share in Kingdom Electricity Company (KEC). Operates home appliance factories.

The Saudi Jordanian Investment Fund (SJIF), (KSA):

A $3 billion fund, focused on strategic investments in Jordan.

Key projects include a $400 million healthcare facility, and a stake in OpenSooq.com.

Other investments are in the pipeline.

Korea Electric Power Corporation, (Korea):

Is a key investor in Jordan's energy sector, with investment stands at $1.2B.

Has a green hydrogen project that is expected to add $3B in investments.

Jin Cheng Global Ceramics, (China):

Specializes in high-quality ceramic products with a global reach.

Invested $100M in Qatraneh plant in Jordan, producing tiles and expanding into multiple product lines with focus on export. Employs 300 locals and targeting to expand to 800.